Rumors of War

The intelligence received by the Pacific, does not confirm the report as to the threatened rupture with France received by telegraph some days since It is very likely that the whole story was manufactured for sensation purposes in the office of the New York World, or in the purlieus of Wall street, where it probably accomplished the purpose of its maker and was forgotten long before it reached us We do not believe the Government will allow itself to be dragged into a foreign war, until the rebellion is crushed, unless national honor imperatively demands hostile proceedings on our part It is safer and wiser to bear a little, and even a good deal more than would be tolerable under other circumstances, for the sake of being in a position before long to defend ourselves against any adversary in the world—aye, against all combined. "There's a good time coming," if we wait a little longer.

THE WAR MUST CONTINUE —The Richmond, correspondent of the London Post thus concludes his letter

Assuming the worst aspect of the case for the Confederates, the war must go on No pen of mine could give you even a faint idea of what this people have endured and are daily suffering in a struggle for independence with enemies who possess more than three times their numbers and resources The sacrifices indeed baffle the anguish such as would move a heart of stone, but there is no option for the South people have to endure In the providence of God their subjugation and utter ruin are compassed by a race who know no pity whom nothing natural can bind, and in whom the slightest prospect of triumph, so far from evoking magnanimity, only serves to inspire fresh atrocity and a more unsparing hate Submission would be but the prelude to cruelties on a more gigantic scale than those of Russian despotism, primes at which Europe would shudder Thus situated, the South has no option but to fight on till her male population are exterminated, or until the presence of another combatant in the field shall lead the North to abandon a contest in which she will no longer possess that superiority of numbers and resources which has secured for to undertake it

The above proves that the rebels are now ready to admit that the North has a superiority of numbers and resources for war purposes, over the disloyal States against which, they cannot successfully contend There is no more of the vain and foolish boasting which filled their mouths when they began the war Experience, terrible and bloody, has taught them a lesson which is written in lines of fire all over the proud land of rebellion, never to be effaced till the memory of their treason dies

GENERAL LEE'S APOLOGY.—A remarkably significant item concerning the war and the desperate position of the rebels was that published Wednesday, stating that Gen Lee had published an address, declaring that "the reduction of rations was owing to causes beyond the control and that it was hoped that better arrangements might soon be made" Such a statement in the Richmond papers is not without a fearful meaning Gen Lee is generally regarded at the North, as one of the most truthful of the rebel officers, and more confidence is placed in him than any other, and if he has been compelled thus to apologise to his Army, he has done so under a terrible pressure and prospect of famine If provisions are scarce in Richmond, the troops would be the first to feel the destitution They must be fed, or they must starve and the rebellion abandoned If they can only obtain short rations, how deplorable must be the condition of the rest of the people—the women and children—whose cries for food are a wasteful and useless claim upon Confederate resources Surely the wrath of an avenging God must be closely following the wicked deeds of treason, and punishing them with terrible and bitter vengeance!

SHIPWRECK —The barkentine Jenny Ford, on the 31st January, when beating out of the Head, at San Francisco, hugging the shore closely, missed stays and went ashore on the North Heads, near the Lighthouse The vessel became a total wreck though all the persons on board were saved except one passenger, named Osmond, and one of the crew She was owned by Messrs Pope and Talbot

MILITARY MATTERS —We understand that Co. A, of the Ninth Infantry Regular Army, will probably be shortly ordered to garrison duty at one of the forts at the mouth of the Columbia river This company is under the immediate command of Captain Jordan, who arrived here by the last steamer Another company of Regulars is expected from California soon, which will probably be also sent to the defences at the mouth of the river

Items from Washington

We take the following from the letter of the correspondent of the Sacramento Union

NAVAL DEFENSES FOR THE PACIFIC COAST —The California delegation in Congress made a great many endeavors to induce the Navy Department to send some additional protection to the defense of the coast of the United States washed by the placid waters of the Pacific, but heretofore it has been impossible to secure anything on account of the pressing and overruling demand for vessels by the Blockading service in the Atlantic and Southern coast Senators Conness and Representative Higby however have been again pressing the matter upon the attention of the department which is now concluded to send a San Francisco or Pacific service the new iron steamer Wateree one of the swift double enders which are proving so efficient an addition to our navy She carries seven guns four of them being nine inch in caliber, two being 100 pound rifles two 24 pounders, and two 20 pound howitzers She will be dispatched forthwith via Cape Horn and will be followed in about two months thereafter, by her mate, which is now being completed as fast as possible In addition to this, Assistant Secretary Fox who—between you and I—is the real live man of the Navy Department, says that as soon as it is practicable he shall send two or three screw gunboats Monitors around Cape Horn for Pacific coast service. So you will have ample security for all defensive purposes before long. Senator Conness has also applied for two steam transports, to be used only by the government, to carry supplies up and down the coast They will be sent by and by, and the necessity for paying the enormous rates which have been heretofore exacted by steamship monopolists will exist no longer

CUTTING OFF THE GENERALS —Public expectation is raised to a high estimate as to the number of Brigadiers and Major Generals to be made by the present Congress, but there will be a general expression of surprise when it is found that there will be but about six Brigadiers and about the same number of Major Generals sent in for confirmation The last Congress, it will be recollected, fixed the number of additional Generals of both grades, and now the maximum is filled, with the small margin allowed Heretofore it has been the practice of the President to nominate a large list of meritorious officers for promotion, trusting to the generosity of Congress to enlarge the maximum number fixed by law, but Congress will do that no longer, but will sooner make vacancies for promotion by mustering out the shelved Generals who now live upon the public pay, doing nothing This will be hard for the numerous sons of Mars who are ambitious for the stars of the first and second ranks of Generals Many of these men are brave and patriotic they have led their brigades daring as Brigadiers into action again and again, and it is hard to deny them the promotion which less deserving men have gained before them But it must be done The ax is laid at the foot of the tree and before many months shall have elapsed there will be something done to sweep off the expensive brood of fungi which the too easy President has allowed to grow up and accumulate in our military organization. The enormous army of Major Generals which, with large staffs now surrounds itself from the public treasury in idleness, must be cut down somehow, and if men feel grieved or insulted there is no help for it, the time has come when the people will endure it no longer Luckily for some of the ambitious Brigadiers, several deaths and resignations have taken place in the list of Major Generals during the past year and there will be consequently, more vacancies among the Generals of that rank than in the second class Buford, Strong and Whipple now gone to their reward, were made Major Generals upon their death beds, while Sickness and Garfield (with Blair, perhaps) have resigned their commissions to take their seats in Congress The President is alone responsible for the great crop of Generals in disuse and unless he can be more discreet and less generous in future, these unfortunate and useless appointments will prove a plague them The Army of the Potomac is but a skeleton of what it once was, at least so far as men are concerned, but all of the expensive machinery of field and general officers has gone on steadily increasing, until it has become a mere General manufacturing machine where Brigadiers are turned out with as much facility as adolescent chickens are hatched by the Ecclebalon—I believe that is what they call it

ODDS AND ENDS OF NEWS —R F. Stevens, late Superintendent of the San Francisco Branch Mint, is still here and is endeavoring to have his character cleared and justified by a new appointment He has failed in making the President see it in that light

Victor Smith, late Collector at Puget Sound Washington Territory is in this city with his list of grievances, and breathing out threatenings and slaughter against sundry and divers 'conspirators" who have succeeded in ousting him from his comfortable berth

Letter from San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 29, 1864

EDITOR OREGONIAN

Here I am again after an absence of twelve months prospecting for fun I find San Francisco much as usual, except the street railroads, which seem to have increased in number amazingly in that period

THE WEATHER

For the last few weeks since I arrived has been until quite pleasant—streets daily washed carts busily plying their vocation of sprinkling and to all appearances more wood and suppose it was summer! In fact there has not been the usual amount of rain—not enough for the mining, agricultural or stock interests I care of a drouth are entertained unless rain comes soon In Lower California the cattle are dying by thousands already and it has ruined a little, but just now it is pleasant again

THE BROTHER JONATHAN

The steamer is undergoing extensive repairs, which will give her increased accommodations for passengers She is expected to be ready to be dispatched on the 27th of February in place of the Pacific

THE JOHN L STEPHENS

Is undergoing repairs to her machinery &c and is fitting up for the Oregon trade The opinion is freely expressed that she is too large for the trade, but such changes may be contemplated as will obviate that difficulty to a certain extent

LEGAL TENDERS

The Legislature is fighting over a bill to repeal the specific contract law passed last session and the friends of repeal in the Assembly have apparently the strength to carry it out This law, as you will remember, was intended to prevent payment in greenbacks at par, where there was a specific contract to the contrary The bill passed to engrossment yesterday by a vote of 19 to 15 Legal tenders are dull sale here at 66 cents)

PERSONAL

I find Oregon well represented here, among the rest, I learn that Capt. Ainsworth and lady (married on the 27th inst) and Mr. Corbett and lady are at San Jose I also understand that Messrs Kamm and lady Ferry and lady, Burrell and lady and D. F Bradford and lady I also notice many familiar faces, among others, John Green, Thos and Charles Carter, Northrup, Baum, Cohen, and others whom my sheet will not allow me to mention

If I do not leave before the next steamer I will write you again Yours,

WASHINGTON

THE GREAT EMIGRATION FROM IRELAND TO THE UNITED STATES —Some years ago a West Indiaman had discharged its cargo in one of our docks at home The ship was plagued by rats as never ship was plagued Their devastations, their noise, their odor, their destructions had been beyond mortal endurance, but there was no remedy The captain who was still on board was waked at midnight, by his mate and asked to step on deck as quietly as he could A fruit ship had arrived in the course of the day from the Mediterranean, and on coming alongside had passed a hawser to the West Indiaman 'Look there!" whispered the mate pointing to the rope, which in the darkness seemed to be moving slowly toward the fruit ship It was alive with rats which in a continuous stream were migrating from the empty ship to the stranger, whose inmates told the tale of its delicious freight Before sunrise there was not a rat left on board the West Indiaman How it fared with the stranger it is needless to say That is the very spectacle we are now witnessing on a world wide scale The hawser is across the Atlantic, and in one incessant, endless train, hundreds of thousands of our fellow citizens are passing to a richer continent Its fragrance, or messages, full of good tidings, and containing often the substantial earnest of golden promises in the shape of notes or orders for pleasant round sums. Could we take the same view of human affairs that the ship per and its mate did of their little world, we should tread softly, and think the less and the better But we cannot quite do that It is part of our crew that is leaving us in this strange and multitudinous fashion They are passing generally to another allegiance, to other laws, to other institutions, to rival interests, to a jealous policy, and, as they think, to assist in building an empire far above even our heads But as they are consulting their own interests, and certainly sparing us some trouble they are welcome to go where they please and to marry a better soil than that from which they have been divorced We are disposed to take a philosophical view of the movement, and are glad to find that for once we may be both scientific and kind The man who suddenly re pears in an Irish cabin with his pocket full of notes and gold, distributing handsome presents, sleek, comely, and well dressed, asking the girl of his early choice to share his new home is a vision that conquers all our sentimental scruples, as it appears he did one the remaining patriotism of Ireland, Every such man is a Columbus in Connaught There is no resisting him. The odds are tremendous against Queen Victoria and Impudence a day, the Established Church and potatoes, the Union Workhouse and yellow meal—even supposing we can all ways reckon for our side of the comparison. —London Times

There was considerable fighting among the Mexicans at Matamoras on the 10th when General Herron commanding our forces at Brownsville despatched the 20th Missouri and 4th Illinois, with five pieces of artillery, across the river All but the 20th Missouri, encamped on the bank of the river That regiment went into Matamoras and spiked the guns in front of the residence of the American Consul who was next morning escorted to Brownsville together with a large number of followers, some 200 of whom retained their arms which they delivered up to the United States authorities Matamoras advices report another revolution there, and that Cortinas was again in power

FROM JAPAN —The Tribune has Japan letter of Jan 1st confirms the statement that Prince Satsuma had agreed to pay £2 500 indemnity for the murder of Richardson but a number of days had passed with out the money being forthcoming It was supposed that the Tycoon would be the party really making payment

The Raleigh Standard in its appeals to the slaveholders for peace says We went to war to protect State Sovereignty and defend and perpetuate the institution of slavery, but if it should appear that we have killed both, as rational beings, we should pause and consider the direction we are taking If the war continues 12 months longer with no greater success to our arms there is danger that the institution of slavery will be hopelessly destroyed.

CITY COUNCIL.—This body met last evening, at the call of Mayor Logan, to take some action in the matter of appropriating funds to pay, according to contract, on the grading of this public square. At the last regular meeting of the Council, there being no quorum, no business was transacted, and the non-payment of money due the contractor, Mr. Frush, was becoming an injury to him, and he petitioned for relief. His statement that one-third of the work was completed, and that $641 was now due, was accepted by the board and a warrant was ordered to be drawn for that amount. The business for which they were called together being now completed, and for fear of a failure to ultimately adjourn, no further business was transacted.

INDICTMENTS.—The Grand Jury have returned indictments in the following causes: State of Oregon vs. Henry Kittmiller, assault with intent to kill John J. Hoss; Nicholas Dufal and Sarah S. Hess, accomplices in the same assault. State vs. C. H. Smith, larceny from the U. S. Assessor's Office. State vs. W. R. Hill, larceny. State vs. G. A. Nogle.

THE CIRCUIT COURT yesterday rendered a judgment of $225 in favor of the Gas Company against the City of Portland. At nine o'clock last night the attention of the Court was still occupied in the argument of Dr. G. A. Noble's case.

RECORDER'S COURT.—Two cases were disposed of by the Recorder yesterday. John Ferrel was sent up for two days, for being drunk and disorderly, and not having the requisite $5 to pay his fine. Joseph Goodman was discharged, on condition that he lived up to the standard indicated by his name.

THE STEAMER PACIFIC.—The work of discharging the cargo of the steamer Pacific, for this port, occupied most of the day, yesterday. Her freight, etc., from this city, will be all on board by six o'clock this evening, at which time she will leave, via Victoria, for San Francisco.

THE TURF.—There was an unusual crowd of people out on the track yesterday to see a race of three hundred yards, for $40 a side, between Morgan's little grey filly, and a bay, by some one in the city. The race was run, and is said to have been a very pretty one—won by the grey. The attendance shows how popular a course would become if on this side of the river.

AS GOOD AS HIS WORD.—Capt. Dixon tells of a man in Monticello, whose favorite dog was taken sick and came near dying, and who had said he would rather pay $5 than lose his pet—well, the dog lived, and to make his word good, the owner sent that amount to aid the Sanitary Commission yesterday.

NEW ASSISTANT PROVOST MARSHAL GENERAL.—Major N. H. McLean, of the United States Army, and his family arrived on the Pacific, and have rooms at the Dennison House. He is assigned to the duties which have been performed by Col. T. C. English, under the direction of the Provost Marshal General.

THE Wilson G. Hunt, Capt. Wolf, arrived at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, from the Cascades. Wells, Fargo & Co.'s messenger, Mr. West, brought down a light treasure. Sixty passengers were taken up by the morning.

THE Senator arrived from Oregon City yesterday about four o'clock, bringing fifteen passengers, and 50 tons of freight.

THE Julia arrived from the Cascades at 10 o'clock, on her up trip she had 80 head of cattle and 30 horses.

BY THE COWLITZ.—Eighteen head of horses, twenty passengers, and a quantity of freight, was landed at Vaughn's wharf yesterday afternoon, from Monticello, by the steamer Cowlitz.

THERE was a meeting of the delegates of the fire department in the Council Chamber, last night. The organization of the new board was perfected, in accordance with the regulations.

THE Collector has been very busy receiving taxes for two days past. No levies on property has been made in consequence of extra business on the streets incident to "steamer day."

A BIG HOG.—One of the largest hogs seen in this city, since the "oldest inhabitant" was a child, was brought to market yesterday. Dressed it weighed nearly 400 pounds.

THE Grand Jury meet this morning at nine o'clock. Their sessions are regulated according to their business.

WHITE CAPS.—A strong current of wind, blowing up the river yesterday noon, rolled up fine swells on the surface of the water.

THE JOHN L. STEPHENS.—Our San Francisco letter confirms the report that the John L. Stephens is fitting up for these waters.

ARRIVALS.—Two arrests were made by the Police yesterday for "drunk, and disorderly conduct."

MCCORMICK received a full assortment of news, and other papers, by the steamer, a list of which he has sent us, and we thank him.

THE Portland Guards, Capt. Randall, meet for drill to-night at their armory on Stark st., corner of First.

MR. CRANE is going to San Francisco on this steamer, for the purpose of obtaining mills and machinery for the quartz of Owyhee.

RAILWAY FEED REMEDY.—From the Albany Sanitary Association, by J. Barrows, Secretary, for $100. From B. Hutchinson, Henry Dowling and Komm T. Olson, of Monmouth, W. T., $5 each, in currency. A. GOLDBECK.

WILLAMETTE THEATRE.—A crowded audience was in attendance at the Theatre last night to witness the reproduction of the play of the "Wife's Secret." Mrs. Hayne, as Lady Evelyn, was all that could be desired, her performance being equal in feeling, judgment and effect. Miss Goodrich appeared again as the Page: her modest deportment has rendered her a favorite with the Theatre going public, and the character assumed in this play only increases that feeling; she is much admired as the Page. G. B. Waldron, as Sir Walter, was at home, and showed his knowledge of what is called the "business" of the art. The other parts were most acceptable and satisfactory. The play of "Toodles" concluded the evening's performance, the actors being generously applauded as the play progressed. The bill offered for to night is well worth all it costs to see it. The classic tragedy of "Medea," and "Taming a Shrew," wherein Mrs. Hayne takes two favorite characters, form peculiar attractions.

[COMMUNICATED.]

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

The lecture of Rev. T. H. Pearne, at Vancouver, on Wednesday evening last, for the benefit of the Ladies' Sanitary Aid Society of that place, was a merited success. Although extensive notice had not long been given, a numerous audience was in attendance, and for nearly two hours sat spell-bound under the brilliant argument and oratory of the speaker as he vividly depicted the horrors of the rebellion, and demonstrated the patriotism and sufferings of our gallant Union defenders.

The collection taken up at the close of the exercises amounted to $40 in coin, and $23.80 in legal tender notes. In this connection it may be stated, that Vancouver claims, all things considered, to be the "banner town" of this coast in the cause of our suffering soldiers. Boasting of far less wealth than any town among those which have liberally contributed, she has, since last spring collected over two thousand two hundred dollars for the holy cause; through the industrious efforts of the resident ladies, who, it may be safely said, are, in many other respects besides this, very hard to beat. "Long may they wave!"

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES
FOR COUGHS AND COLDS.

A NEGLECTED COUGH, COLD, AN IRRITATED OR SORE THROAT, if allowed to progress, results in serious Pulmonary and Asthmatic Diseases—sometimes incurable. HUSBAND CATCHING —On a certain divine an anecdote is told which Hook used to say exceeded any specimen of cool assurance that he had ever seen exhibited A young clerical of his, staying at a friend's house, happened to be sitting up one night reading after the family as he supposed had retired to rest The door opened and his excellent host re appeared in his dressing gown and slippers

My dear boy said the latter seating himself and looking pleasantly at his guest I have a favor to request of you Until the day they will prove agreeable to you newspaper The fact is Mrs and I have observed the particular attention with which you have paid to Betsey We can make every allowance however for your excellent principles as we do for the delusion which has incited you to pursue but it has been carried far enough In a worldly point of view Betsey of course might do better, yet we all have the highest esteem for your character and disposition and then our daughter, she is very dear to us and when her happiness is at stake, all minor considerations must give way We have therefore after due deliberation, I must own not altogether with out hesitation made up our minds to the match What must be must be, you are a worthy fellow and therefore in a word you have our free will and consent Only make our child happy and we ask no more

The lady ceased and the gallant half petrified, laid down his book

'My dear, sir' he began to murmur "there is some dreadful mistake I really never thought of this, I never intended,'

"No, no, I know you did not Your modesty is one of those traits which has made you so deservedly a favorite with us all But my dear boy a parent's eyes are sharp Anxiety sharpens them We saw well enough what you thought so well concealed Betsey, too is just the girl to be won Well, well say no more about it it's all over now God bless you both Only make her a good husband—here she is I have told Mrs to bring her down again for the sooner you young folks are out of suspense the better Settle this matter as soon as you like we leave you together"

Thus saying the considerate papa bestowed a most affectionate kiss upon his daughter with was at this juncture led into the room by her mother, both in disabille shook his future son in law cordially by the hand and with a "there, go, go along Mr ' turned his wife out of the room and left the lovers (?) to tete-a tete What was to be done? Common humanity to say nothing of politeness demanded nothing less than a proposal It was tendered accordingly, and we need scarcely add, very graciously received —Memoirs of Hook

A GRATEFUL IRISHMAN —Lieut J , late of the Sixteenth New York Regiment, was a few days ago walking down Main street, Utica, when he was accosted by a fellow, half soldier, half beggar, with a most reverential military salute "God bless your honor," said the man, whose accent betrayed him to be Irish, "and long life to you!" 'How do you know me?' said the lieutenant 'Is it how do I know ye honor?' responded Pat 'Good right, sure, I have to know the man who saved my life in battle?' The lieutenant, highly gratified at this tribute to his valor slid a fifty cent bill into his hand, and asked him when. "God bless your honor, and long life to you," said the grateful veteran. "Sure it was at Antietam, when, seeing your honor run as fast as your legs could carry you from the rebels I followed your lead, and ran after you out of the way Whereby under God I saved my life O, good luck to your honor, I never will forget you"

TURKISH GALLANTRY —A Mexican, when you praise his horse, immediately replies that the horse is at your service which means no more than when in England you write to a man that you are his 'obedient humble servant'" A late Turkish ambassador in England actually did what the Mexican phrase professes to do When any lady happened to praise one of the handsome shawls that decorated his person, he immediately presented it to her. This led to a very general expression of admiration for his excellency's shawls and in consequence, to a great diminution of the ambassadorial wardrobe At last when his excellency's stock was reduced to the one he wore upon a lady loudly expressing her admiration of its beauty, instead of his former reply, "Madame, it is at your service," he said with Turkish composure, but with more than Turkish gallantry "Madame, I am glad you like it I shall wear it for your sake"

HOW THE THING WAS DONE —Inquiring Young Lady—O, dear, tell me how John declared his love?

Expectant Wife—Well Fanny, we were in the parlor you know and all at once he turned up his eyes, so I thought he was ill Then he turned 'em down and squeezed my hand and asked me if I'd have him—and—

Inquiring Young Lady—Well dear—well what did he do next?

Expectant Wife—Nothing dear, but I said yes, and gracious how he kissed me Then dear I laid my head upon his shoulder and then he talked, dear O how I trembled I thought I never could go through it

A SIGN OF THE TIMES —We met a Friend, (Quaker) in the street, the other day carrying in his hand an elegant sword. 'Ah!' said we 'do the Friends carry carnal weapons?' "Thee knows," he replied, "that the rebellion must be put down."

The sword was for his son an officer in the army —Wabash Valley Patriot

Two Irishmen were in prison one for stealing a cow, the other for stealing a watch "Halloo Mike what o'clock is it?" said the cow stealer to the other

'And sure Pat I haven't any time piece handy but I think it's almost milking time"

A son of the Emerald Isle, once riding to market with a sack of potatoes before him discovered that the horse was getting tired whereupon he dismounted put the potatoes on his shoulders and again mounted saying "It was better he should carry the praties he was fresher than the poor baste"
